"I wanted to write and let you know what an exceptional employee you have working for you. I called your company late this morning Dallas Fort Worth and left a message for Daryl Guberman.

I am a student and was looking for information on medical grade plastics. The secretary told me he was gone for the day, but would be back in Monday. Needless to say, I wasn't expecting a call from him until then.

I was pleasantly surprised when my phone rang about 4 o'clock and it was Mr. Guberman calling me from his home. Not only did he take personal time to listen to his messages, but then called and spent at least an hour talking with me about materials and testing. He even asked me to email him so he could forward me the information I was requesting. It's refreshing to know that there are still decent, hardworking people in this world that give a damn about other people's needs. It's people like that who give a great company a fabulous reputation."
